publish('mcv.select.focus', [1,2,3])
```

A diagram illustrating the semantic roles of the arguments in the function call `publish('mcv.select.focus', [1,2,3])`. The function name `publish` is enclosed in a rounded rectangle. Four arrows point from the arguments to their corresponding semantic roles below: `'mcv'` points to `application`, `.select` points to `category`, `.focus` points to `purpose`, and `[1,2,3]` points to `data or function`. Each role is highlighted with a colored background matching its corresponding argument.
